To Whom It May Concern:

The American Carbon Alliance is proud to support the SPEED Act. Permitting delays are one of the most significant barriers standing in the way of America's ability to build the next generation of infrastructure projects that strengthen our economy.

The SPEED Act brings long-overdue clarity and predictability to the NEPA process, helping projects move forward with transparency, accountability, and timely environmental reviews.

For the farmers, biofuels producers, and rural communities we represent, modernizing federal permitting isn't abstract policy; it's essential. Whether it's expanding carbon capture projects, upgrading pipelines, or building next-generation ethanol and SAF facilities, these investments can't happen without a permitting system that works. The SPEED Act gives businesses the certainty they need to invest, create jobs, and strengthen America's energy leadership.

We appreciate Chairman Westerman and Congressman Golden for taking a bipartisan approach to an issue that affects every major sector of our economy, and we look forward to working with Congress to advance meaningful, durable permitting reform.

Sincerely,
